

Arrests At Flint Break Up $50,000 Home Burglary Ring

Flint, Mich., Jan. 11 (AP)—A burglary ring that netted $50,000 in a series of home robberies in six counties has been broken up with the arrest of three men and a woman, state police said today.

The gang raided numerous homes during a two-year period, according to Trooper Bert Younger, and hauled away furniture, jewelry and personal belongings in trucks.

They set fire to one home in Genesee county after robbing it seven times, Younger said, hoping to cover up their trail.

The burglaries occurred in Oakland, Genesee, Livingston, Lapeer, Huron and Tuscola counties, the officer added.

Those held in the Genesee county jail are Walter Brooks, 33, and his wife, Dorothy, 23, Arthur W. Smith, 43, and William K. Gillette, 28, all of Flint.

Brooks and Gillette recently were sentenced to one to 15 years in prison by Circuit Judge X. A. Boomhower of Bad Axe, in the burglary of summer cottages in the Port Huron area.

While they were in jail, Younger said, they were overheard boasting of their exploits. This led state police to arrest Mrs. Brooks when she visited them Sunday.

Smith was seized in Flint later. Younger said the gang drove around the countryside spotting homes where newspapers on the porch or other signs gave evidence that the owners were absent.

Then they returned, usually at night, and burglarized the homes, carrying away their loot in trucks, according to the officer.

Youth Faces Court As Scissors Killer

Alleged Slayer Of Boy, 12 To Be Tried As Adult

Philadelphia, Jan. 11 (AP)—The commonwealth moved today to prosecute Seymour Levin, charged with the scissors slaying of 12-year-old Ellis Simons, as an "adult" defendant.

Levin, who will be 17 on Jan. 24, was scheduled to be arraigned on a homicide charge in municipal court today at exactly the same hour funeral services were to be held for the Simons boy.

District Attorney John H. Maurer yesterday assigned the Levin prosecution to Assistant District Attorney Colbert C. McClain, considered one of city hall's most seasoned murder trial lawyers.

At the same time, Maurer announced the trial would be held in quarter sessions court because of the nature of the crime. Offenders under 18 years of age usually are tried in the municipal court's juvenile division.

Only a few hours before the slaying on Saturday, Levin visited municipal court for a probation report in connection with molesting a neighbor's child 13 months ago.

This was disclosed by police yesterday as they again cross-examined Levin in an effort to establish a motive for the slaying.

Plane Takes Mail To Beaver Island, Three Trips Weekly

Charlevoix, Mich., Jan. 11 (AP) H. H. Bechtold, jr., of Bellaire, yesterday inaugurated winter airmail flights from Pellston airport to Beaver Island in Lake Michigan.

His government contract calls for the three trips a week between the mainland and St. James, on the island.

The Civil Aeronautics Board currently is considering the request of an Owosso pilot to provide year-around plane service to the island. A boat serves islanders now during the navigation season.

Tax Boost May Skip Low And Middle Income

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Washington, Jan. 11 (AP)—Low and middle salary groups appeared likely today to escape any general income tax boosts this year in spite of a record $41,858,000,000 peacetime budget.

But there was fairly general agreement in both Democratic and Republican ranks that if President Truman's spending program for the fiscal year starting July 1 is to be followed, someone is going to have to ante up more money.

Also, if his social welfare proposals are enacted millions of workers and their employers will have larger payroll taxes.

Republicans shouted for economy. They pointed to the spectre of a deficit formed by the budget the president sent to Congress yesterday.

The Democratic heads of the Senate and House tax-writing committees, Senator George of Georgia and Representative Doughton of North Carolina, maintained a cautious position. They said they want to see how much money Congress votes to spend before considering tax raises.

As a result, there is a strong possibility that the legislative budget provision of the congressional reorganization act will be suspended. This provision requires Congress to set an estimate on appropriations and income by February 15 each year. It hasn't been effective in past years and the congressional income-outgo goals have not been binding.

Rep. Cannon (D-Mo.), who will head the House appropriations committee, said he will ask the president to take the initiative to suspend the budget ceiling requirement.

"It isn't workable," Cannon told newsmen. "You can't tell with accuracy by February 15 what you are going to do in the following months."

Cannon said he would work to cut off every possible dollar from the president's budget, half of which Mr. Truman has earmarked for the cold war with Russia.

Cannon called the budget "the most practical that could be presented at this time" but figured that if it followed it would result in a deficit for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The president himself estimated the deficit for the year at $873,000,000 but he has proposed that it be wiped out and some cash be provided for national debt payment by hiking tax rates.

Smuggling Suspects Arrested At Miami

Refugee Aliens Brought Over From Havana

Miami, Fla., Jan. 11 (AP)—A full investigation was underway today following arrests of three Jewish refugees and three suspected smugglers on a small Florida key.

Attorney General Tom Clark said in Washington there was "some indication that others in the United States are involved and a full investigation is in progress."

Border patrolmen arrested the six Sunday at Marathon, a key about half way between Miami and Key West, after a 28 hour watch.

Chief Border Patrol Inspector Frank Hornyak said they seized as they docked to refuel the 45-foot charter vessel, Semper Fidelis, in which they had come from Havana, Cuba.

Hornyak identified the aliens as Isaac Reiser, 29, his wife Milica, 22, of Roumania, and Arthur Woloski, 25, of Poland. He said Reiser and his wife had been inmates of the Buchenwald concentration camp and Woloski had spent five years in four different Nazi prisons.

Charged with attempting to smuggle aliens into this country illegally and with conspiracy were Albert Padagas, 25, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; Arthur J. Benson, 34, of South street, Rockport, Mass., master of the charter boat; and Joseph Sowinski, 59, (rural route two, box 69) Stevens Point, Wis., a crewman.

At the same time, Maurer announced the trial would be held in quarter sessions court because of the nature of the crime. Offenders under 18 years of age usually are tried in the municipal court's juvenile division.

New Era Of Lower Prices Predicted For U.S. Consumers

BY RADER WINGET

New York, Jan. 11 (AP)—The rush of people attracted by post-Christmas sales has convinced many leading retailers the nation is headed for a new era of lower prices.

They voice this conviction with certain reservations, of course—and in some cases with crossed fingers. Right now some 6,000 retailers are attending the 38th annual convention of the National Retail Dry Goods Association in New York, and their main objective is to increase sales, lower their costs and maintain profits.

The general picture these leaders outline is this: Christmas sales bogged down until they barely exceeded last year's figures, and the year as a whole was only five per cent above 1947. But the response to sales at reduced prices indicate people will buy an increased volume of goods if price, style and value are balanced to fit the consumer pocketbook.

The experts don't look for a general price break, nor for a business recession, but they do look for a general selective downward price revision and a general increase in value and style where prices aren't reduced from present levels.

There was one strong note of caution. Several retailers said increased government spending or widespread wage increases could turn the tide and force retail prices up. Greater supply now is over-balancing demand, said one retailer, but an increase in spendable money could turn the tables and put demand on top with a consequent pressure for increased prices.

Icy Blasts Hit Half Of Nation

(By The Associated Press)
Weather's wintry elements unleashed further damaging blows to storm-weary states over most of the western half of the nation today.

Snow, ice and sleet storms hit an area from the Texas-Oklahoma panhandle to the Pacific coast. California shivered again in freezing temperatures. There was snow and ice from the state's winter resort spots to the mountains. Many highways were closed because of ice and snow. The fruit and vegetable crop was further endangered by the wintry blasts.

The freezing weather followed last week's killing frost which caused millions of dollars of damage to crops.

The Rocky Mountain region and parts of the Midwest got another blast of sub-zero temperatures. Cold weather in the Pacific northwest threatened a severe power shortage.

While winter's ice blasts dealt severe blows to the west, Dixie-land was basking in summertime temperatures. The mercury shot up into the 70's and 80's yesterday from Louisiana to the Atlantic seaboard and from Florida to east Tennessee and most of Virginia.

The freezing rain and sleet covered an extensive area of the central and southern plains as far eastward as Iowa, Missouri and western Illinois.

Kansas, Oklahoma, Missouri and part of northern Texas got the worst of the storm. Many communities were blacked out as heavy ice-coated power lines snapped. Some schools were closed. Travel over the glazed highways was at a slow pace. Fallen trees on highways added to the hazards of driving.

In California highway crews worked through the night sanding icy roads and clearing snow. Only one main highway out of Los Angeles, Coast Route 101 to San Francisco and San Diego, was free of ice.

The mercury slid to freezing and below in many parts of California again today. Snow fell in Burbank and for the second straight night there were flurries in Los Angeles. There was a blanket of white in many San Fernando Valley and foothill communities.

The city commission passed an ordinance Monday requiring all bottle clubs to get licenses and pay an annual fee of $500.

Further, they must operate the same hours as other drinking places—closing at 2 a. m. and keeping shut on Sundays.

A bottle club—there have been two such known places downtown—has operated under its own novel rules and practices.

You brought your own bottle of liquor and turned it over to the bartender. From your supply he mixed your drinks, and you paid for the mix. You paid a small sum for club membership.

As an after hours place, the bottle club drew patronage from night workers and entertainers—including bartenders.

Million Free Chest
X-rays Taken By
Michigan TB Units

Lansing, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Michigan health department, first in the nation to offer free chest x-rays to uncover tuberculosis reported today it has taken 1,000,000 such x-rays in eight years.

The first 972,808 x-rays made by the department's five mobile units discovered 8,340 cases of suspected or inactive T. B., the department said.

It added that tuberculosis, which was seventh in major causes of death in Michigan between 1940 and 1946, fell to eighth place in 1947 and ninth place in 1948.

The department said the program costs 35 cents per picture.

Israel Aims New Attacks At England

By MAX HARRELSON

Lake Success, Jan. 11 (AP)—Israel was reported today to be preparing a new blast at Britain despite efforts of Washington and United Nations officials to ease the growing Palestine tension.

There still was no official word here whether or not Israel would abandon her plan to file a formal complaint in the security council against Britain on any of the several issues over which the two countries are arguing.

Israeli Representative Aubrey S. Eban, however, arranged a news conference for 2 p. m. (EST) and this touched off rumors a new attack on Britain was on the way.

These rumors were strengthened to some extent by a sharp statement issued by Eban last night on his arrival in New York after a round of conferences in Tel Aviv.

Troops Cause Concern
Eban declared British troop movements in Trans-Jordan constitute a "repudiation of the security council truce resolutions."

He said Britain's action is causing "grave concern" in Israel.

Eban's statement was regarded as significant since it came after the state department and U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie appealed to Britain and Israel to forget their differences for the moment in the interest of the forthcoming armistice talks on the island of Rhodes between Egypt and Israel.

The Israeli representative said his government attaches great importance to the projected armistice negotiations but declared the talks "can only be prejudiced by provocative maneuvers such as those in which the British forces are now engaged."

British diplomatic sources in London had said earlier that Britain would not present a complaint to the security council charging Israel with shooting down five RAF planes near the Egyptian-Palestine border last week.

School Official Asks What To Do With Two Huge Metal Furnaces

If you ordered a toy elephant and were presented with a mammoth pachyderm direct from the jungles of Africa, you would have a rough idea of how Supt. Leo Brunelle of the Bark River schools is feeling today.

It all started several months ago when Supt. Brunelle was seeking a comparatively small forge for the school workshop. A catalog from the War Assets Administration listed, among other surplus war items, two metal furnaces, complete with motors. The catalog descriptions indicated that they might be just what Mr. Brunelle was seeking. Moreover, they were available to the school only for the cost of shipment from River Rouge to Bark River.

Supt. Brunelle heard nothing further from the War Assets Ad-

POLIO APPEAL DRIVE OPENED

Fund Campaign To Fight Paralysis Under Way

The annual March of Dimes drive in which funds are being solicited to aid the victims of infantile paralysis is now under way in Delta county under the direction of J. L. Heilman, campaign chairman for the Delta county unit of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Funds to aid local crippled children and the handicapped child are raised annually through the March of Dimes. Part of funds received also go to the National Foundation to help defray the cost of research designed to ultimately find a cure for the disease.

March of Dimes funds last year aided in the purchase of a galvanic stimulator used in treatments on paralysis cases in special rooms at the Escanaba Junior high school. The purchase of diathermy equipment is also proposed to further provide the physical therapist with modern facilities for treatment of crippled children of this county.

Heilman reported that appeal letters have already been sent to business and industries of the county, and that other general solicitation letters will be mailed soon. A. W. Freeman is chairman of the industrial appeal committee, M. N. Nyquist of the campaign in the townships, Hagle Quarnstrom of the rural schools.

In Escanaba the drive chairman for the city is Irwin C. Peterson, and in Gladstone the chairman is Charles Burton. Leslie W. Olson is chairman of the county-wide infantile paralysis committee, Earle B. Harris is treasurer, and Miss Alice Kvam secretary.

March of Dimes containers will be distributed soon and will be placed in business centers in the cities and the townships. The drive is expected to be completed this month.

Republic Of Panama Ready To Cooperate On Canal Defenses

Panama, Panama, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Republic of Panama is now ready to cooperate with the United States in the defense of the Panama Canal.

David Samudio, a government member, speaking in the national assembly said yesterday the attitude of Panamanians had changed. A year ago United States troops were pulled out from their wartime bases because of Panamanian objections.

Samudio said the new policy resulted because the Panama people "face certain new doctrines and world imperialist ambitions which try to dominate the action and thought of citizens of weak countries."

Opposition member Victor Navas supported the government statement which declared the Republic is "ready to arrive at an understanding with the north Americans on the basis of mutual advantages."

The United States is surveying four sea-level canal routes in central America. The assembly discussion arose from a reported statement of Rep. Albert J. Engel (R-Mich) that the United States would not build a new canal because of the difficulty of defense.

CANCER FIGHT WILL CONTINUE

Delta Officers Meet To Consider 1949 Plans

Officers of the Delta county Cancer Society, affiliated with the American Cancer Society, discussed plans for the ensuing year here yesterday with Joe Matel of Grand Rapids, field representative of the Michigan division of the national organization. Matel left today to confer with Schoolcraft and Mackinac county Cancer Society officials, completing a tour of the Upper Peninsula.

Henry Boyle of Bark River is president of the Delta county Cancer Society, and Mrs. Margaret Gilbert of Escanaba is county commander.

Matel described the educational and service program of the Delta county unit as "outstanding among the groups in the 15 counties of the Upper Peninsula."

The program has been under way for the past two years, and Matel directed attention to the decreased cancer death rate in the county for 1947 as possible evidence of its effectiveness. Early examination, diagnosis and treatment are encouraged through the educational program.

The record of cancer deaths in Delta county by years is as follows: 1944—45; 1945—61; 1946—66; 1947—53.

Of the 53 persons killed by cancer in Delta county last year 27 were men and 26 were women. Matel's figures reveal. Twenty-seven of the cancer victims were residents of Escanaba, eight of Gladstone, and 18 of the townships.

Dr. Cooperstock in the morning will see cardiac and rheumatic fever cases, and in the afternoon will examine pediatric cases. It was announced that he will see all cases that local doctors wish to refer to him for examination.

Business-Industry-Education day will be observed in Delta county tomorrow.

Schools will be closed while the teachers spend the day at business and industrial establishments in Escanaba, Gladstone, Wells, Groos and Bark River. In the one-day conference, more than three hundred teachers of Delta county's public and parochial schools will become acquainted with the problems of business and industry. Various phases of the operations of these concerns will be discussed frankly by the educators and top management executives.

In the evening, teachers and company representatives will attend a banquet at the St. Joseph dining hall, where they will hear an address by Kenneth W. Haagen, public relations director of the Allis-Chalmers company of Milwaukee.

Program Opens at 9 A. M.

The program will open with a preliminary meeting at the Wm. W. Oliver Memorial auditorium at 9 a. m. tomorrow when Supt. John A. Lemmer will outline briefly the day's schedule. The teachers then will go to the various business places and industrial plants to which they have been assigned.

Luncheon will be held at the various hotels and restaurants at noon, following which the teachers will return to their assigned places for a continuance of the conference until late in the afternoon.

The banquet at St. Joseph dining hall will begin at 6:30 p. m. Tables will be assigned to the various industries and their guests. Rev. Fr. Patrick of St. Joseph's church will give the invocation. The toastmaster will be Charles Gessner, and the address of welcome will be delivered by Carl G.

REOPEN MINE AT IRON RIVER

North Range Company To Work Riverton

Iron River, Mich.—The North Range Mining company contemplates the reopening of Iron River's pioneer mine, the Riverton, located just east of the river on the hill slope in Stambaugh city.

Ralph S. Archibald, Negaunee, president, disclosed over the weekend.

The Riverton, also known as the Iron River mine, was first opened to production more than 60 years ago.

Workmen last week moved a clam or dragline into the property for preliminary operations around the site of No. 5 shaft. This first step was taken with tacit permission of the fee owners although leases had not yet gone out in final form for their signature.

"We are doing some work on the old Iron River mine," Archibald declared in a statement.

"This work consists of trying to find out whether No. 5 shaft could be rehabilitated. This shaft was caved at the surface, and we have several men working with a drag line on this property. We have no further plans for the present."

Reopen Warner Too

The North Range company, which also operates the Book mine at Alpha, is presently engaged in reopening a not other abandoned mine to production, the Warner, southeast of Amasa, where pumps were pulled by the Pickands, Mather & Co. 14 years ago.

At first, preparations for resumption of production at the Warner were stymied by a lack of hydroelectric power due to the drought conditions, and Wisconsin Michigan Power company officials said last fall they would be unable to supply power to any new industrial customers.

This situation has been relieved however by early winter precipitation augmenting waterpower at WMPCo hydro plants, and the utility has recently advised the North Range it can have "all the power it wants" for the present.

F. E. Brown, Iron River mining and civil engineer, is representing the Riverton fee owners in negotiations with North Range for development of the old Iron River mining property.

The North Range company expects to be producing iron ore again in mid-February at the old Champion mine at Beacon near Lake Michigan. Output for 1949 will be about 100,000 tons, and will be increased as development of the property progresses. The entire tonnage to be produced this year has been sold in advance to one customer, and ore hoisted to surface between next month and the opening of navigation two months later in April will be moved to market via all-rail shipments.

Dr. Gibouleau, Noted Lecturer, Dies In New York

Dr. G. H. Gibouleau, widely known throughout the mid-western and eastern states as a lecturer on India where he spent 20 years as a medical missionary, died Saturday night at the home of his brother, Eugene Gibouleau in Warrensburg, N. Y.

Dr. Gibouleau, who was born in Montreal, Canada, April 1, 1890, spent his childhood in Escanaba and has two cousins living here, Miss Mary Boudreau of 615 First avenue south, and Adolore Boudreau of 318 South 8th street.

He received his early education in Canada, and, a British subject, went to India as a medical missionary. He visited in the United States in 1925 and returned to this country in 1934, and had visited frequently in Escanaba and in Iron Mountain with his sister, Mrs. John Goulette of Lake Antoine.

In addition to outstanding work in health and missionary activities in India, Dr. Gibouleau held the singular distinction of being elected mayor of Akyab, Burma, an honor rarely accorded a white man. He also served as vice-consul for Norway while in India. He held the further honor of being awarded a testimonial scroll and gold ring set with a topaz by Pope Pius XI, the awards made during a private audience, in recognition of his work in India in the name of the Catholic church.

Spoke Seven Languages

In addition to visiting all parts of India, Dr. Gibouleau spent some time in almost all of the European countries. He visited the Holy Land and also all major Oriental countries and spoke seven foreign languages, four of them learned in India.

Following his return to America he was a forum lecturer for the Universities of Wisconsin, Minnesota and Kansas and also lectured independently in the eastern cities.

He leaves two sisters and five brothers. Services were held today in Warrensburg and burial made there.

The Presidential Pay

THE MATTER of a salary increase for President Truman and succeeding presidents of the United States is before Congress and probably will be acted upon at the present session.

The desirability of a wage boost for the man who occupies the world's most important job is generally recognized. The presidential salary is the same today as it has been for years, despite vastly increased maintenance costs and also despite sharply increased tax rates. The result is that the president actually is required to meet substantially higher expenses with a substantially decreased paycheck.

The problem now being weighed by congressmen is whether to make the salary increase subject to taxes or not. The position of Rep. Rich of Pennsylvania, who favors an outright salary increase subject to taxes, seems the most honest and the best approach to the problem.

"Let him feel the pinch of high taxes just like everybody else," suggests Rep. Rich.

If the presidential pay problem is solved by providing a tax-free expense fund for the president, it conceivably might open the way for demands for similar treatment for cabinet officers and perhaps even for members of Congress.

In any case, the men who decide the tax rates for the American public should be subject to the same rates that others in similar pay brackets are required to pay. If they are not, the confiscatory tax rates now in effect will never be reduced.

Utilities Rates Disturb Williams

GOVERNOR WILLIAMS declared last week that he is disturbed at the trend of increased public utility rates granted by the state public service commission and indicated that he plans to conduct his own study of the situation.

The impression left by the governor's statement on the subject is that the rate increases are unjustified, although the governor conceded that he is not sure whether he is right or wrong about that.

The public, too, is disturbed by increased utility rates because utility costs comprise an important factor in the general cost of living. The public is equally disturbed by the high cost of food, clothing, rent, transportation, etc.

The cost of operating public utilities, like the cost of other businesses, has increased considerably in recent years. It is unreasonable to expect that rate schedules previously in effect would be adequate for today's condition.

The public service commission is charged with the responsibility of establishing fair rates for public utilities after a study of controlling factors in each case. The governor's statement conveys the idea that perhaps the commission has not done its job well.

In view of the governor's own statement that he does not know whether he is right or wrong, it would seem that the governor might better have avoided casting any suspicions against the commission until he had acquainted himself with the actual facts.

The public is disturbed, too, with the prospects of increased taxes to pay ever-mounting costs of government.

Sale Of Land In Public Interest

PROPOSED SALE of a tract of approximately 3,400 acres of timber land in Wells county, Marquette, to lumber companies by the state conservation department was the subject of an interesting discussion at Marquette last week.

Sportsmen opposed the sale on the grounds that the transfer to private interests would be harmful to deer hunters. Representatives of lumber companies, however, testified that the land would not be closed to hunting but rather would be improved for hunting because roads would be constructed through the property.

A fair appraisal of the arguments pro and con regarding the proposed sale indicate that public interest would best be served by returning this land to the tax rolls through transfer to logging companies. It has been indicated that the land could be sold for between $30,000 and $45,000.

Presently there are no roads through the property and it is not a popular hunting grounds for this reason. Lumber companies would construct roads and would permit hunting in the area.

Further, the property offers an ideal opportunity for selective logging. Lumber companies have learned through bitter experience that selective cutting and sustained yields are essential to maintenance of adequate timber growth for years to come.

B-I-E Day

BUSINESS AND INDUSTRIAL concerns of Delta county will undertake a unique project in the public relations field on Wednesday when they will hold all-day conferences with more than three hundred teachers of the city and rural schools.

Schools will suspend classes for the day. A group of teachers will be assigned to each establishment. After a tour of inspection, the teachers will gather around a conference table with top management officials to discuss the policies and problems of business and industry.

Personnel policies doubtless will be of interest, for the teachers are now engaged in teaching youth who someday will take places in business and industry. Out of the discussions might come new approaches to the problem of training young people so that they will obtain good positions in their home community.

Teachers will bring the knowledge gained in the Business-Industry Education day program back to their classrooms and pass it on to the young students.

On Wednesday evening, the teachers, company officials and representatives of organized labor will attend a banquet meeting to be addressed by Kenneth W. Haagenen of the Allis-Chalmers company, an outstanding figure in the public relations field.

The day's program promises to be worthwhile for all who participate.

TRAINING YOUNG STEERS

Grandfather was famous for the well-trained yokes that he sold as three-year-olds. "Easiest money a man can make," he would say. "You raise 'em on hay you grow your self and a little corn and cob meal. They'll do the farm work at two years and they are just in their prime at three. You don't have to think of expensive harnesses and steers don't need expensive grains." Along in the 1890's farmers in the county used to come to Mountain View Farm to buy a pair.

Grandfather was partial to the big blocky Shorthorns. They were steady, powerful workers; they made top quality beef. The secret of his reputation as an ox trainer was that he started the training very early. He hired his grandson at five cents an hour to teach the little fellows to lead at two or three months of age. Along in the winter when they had turned six months or so, it was a boy's satisfying task to break them to the yoke. On a stormy Saturday in winter the big barn floor was the training ground. Of course the young steers were somewhat bewildered when the small, lightweight wooden yoke was first laid on their necks and pins locked. But in a few sessions they learned the fundamental lesson, that is, they must always move together.

There were four basic commands, "Haw," "Gee," "Get up," and "Whoa." "Easy does it" Grandfather used to say as he watched a boy walking the youngsters around. By late winter the yearlings were ready for a lesson in pulling. They were hitched to the front half of a light bobbed and driven up and down the road. At first one walked along on the high side, but soon Buck and Broad were so accustomed to quiet commands that a lad could ride on the sled. Of course, things went awry occasionally. There were memorable episodes when the steers took fright and galloped wildly for a spell before they slowed down. There were times when they seemed perversely obstinate; but one understands there are such interludes in the education of young homo sapiens. Gradually the steers learned to start together, pull evenly, obey implicitly. It was a memorable day when Grandfather said, "Why don't you take the pair to the village today and bring home a few bags of middings and meal." That meant he considered the training well done. There aren't many farmers today who use oxen. Too slow for this speeded up age. But there are men in cities and towns who can recall the winter days of long ago when they spent pleasant hours training the young steers.—By Haydn Pearson.

A LITTLE TRICKY GRAMMAR FOR TEACHERS AND PUPILS

Q. My English class and I are stymied over this construction: "Everyone went but (I? me?)." Can you turn the light of your common sense on this puzzler?—Mrs. C. de H.

Answer: Puzzler is the right word. I seldom deal in the involvements of technical grammar; but this is an important point which needs explaining.

The truth is, the various authorities, grammars, and dictionaries which I have consulted are at odds on whether "but" in this construction is a conjunction or a preposition.

Here are actual examples from the dictionaries in which "but" is a preposition: No one replied but me; all have coats but me; there was no one left but me; no one had the least control over him but her.

Here are examples in which "but" is a conjunction: All but he had fled; no one replied but I; all were there but she.

And there you are, Mrs. C. de H. But, someone is sure to ask, what IS "but"—a preposition or a conjunction?

Listen to these profound words: "It is often difficult or impossible to decide whether the word (but) is a conjunction, a preposition, an adverb, or a particle having various offices."—Funk and Wagnalls.

"In modern English the uses of 'but' followed by nouns and pronouns are regarded by most writers as conjunctive, although use as a preposition before pronouns is

Nation Losing Its Resources

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—Inevitably a State of the Union message reads like a shopping list. It is the president's petition to Congress for those things he believes to be essential to the welfare of the nation.

The Truman shopping list is long and all-inclusive. The president has asked for all the things he talked about in his campaign and some that he didn't talk about.

If he were to get all of them in just the form he asks, which probably not even the president expects, we should see well-nigh revolutionary changes in this country. Thus, along with civil rights, public housing, a national health insurance system, expanding social security and aid to education, he renews in a single sentence 10 words long his plea for universal military training.

There is little likelihood that Congress will grant universal training. It even may be doubted whether the president really wants it, since it would add several billion dollars to the annual budget.

Since the message is a shopping list, covering the ambitious housewife's hopes and prayers as well as her urgent necessities, there may seem little reason to look behind the tersely stated items. Presumably, from time to time the president will spell out specific requests in considerably more detail.

CONSERVATION PLAN NEEDED

Yet there is room for doubt and particularly on the score of natural resources and conservation. The president, who in his campaign called for more dams, more power lines and more irrigation, dutifully asks Congress for more dams, more power lines and more irrigation.

But merely to ask for more is not enough. An over-all conservation plan is essential to end the duplication, waste and confusion that now prevail. If such a plan is in the making, it is very well concealed.

From within the administration it is reported that one of the president's principal goals is to bring some order into the topsy-turvy structure of government. Insofar as possible he will use the recommendations of the Hoover commission on government reorganization as a blueprint.

The commission experts have found waste not merely of dollars but actually of resources in the present duplication. They have studied the competing efforts of the Army engineers and the reclamation service in the department of interior.

At one time the two services warred against each other. Now they are engaged in mutual back-scratching on river systems where both oppose the valley authority principle. To end the waste and duplication, the Hoover commission recommends a merger.

POINTS TO TVA PROJECT

This may not be the answer at all, as both services undoubtedly will insist in loud publicity blasts. But there will remain the responsibility for providing an answer.

"We should apply the lessons of our Tennessee Valley experience to our other great river basins," the president says in his message.

The answer may be a Columbia Valley authority and a Missouri Valley authority. But we cannot be sure until we see how such plans fit not merely into the particular region but in the conservation pattern that must be worked out for the whole nation.

The dreadful fact—the awful handwriting on the wall—is that millions of tons of topsoil go wasting down to the sea each year. That is an irretrievable loss that each year make us a poorer nation. It must be checked and it can be checked only through a national plan.

The time has come, it seems to me, to name a national conservation commission made up of the greatest experts in the field. To say "objective" might be futile, since the experts do not all agree. But it should be possible to get the best balance of opinion on a nation-wide approach to what is the greatest single threat to our well-being.

This need not hold up the dams and the irrigation projects considered immediately essential. Congress can authorize the piecemeal work to continue. There should be no doubt, however, that piecemeal doling out of projects is at best a stop gap; that is to say better than nothing at all.

Here, it seems to me, is an opportunity that may not come again for a long time. Conservation, dams, irrigation had a lot to do with President Truman's re-election. Public opinion is prepared for something big. An item on a shopping list must be expended into a great hope and a great vision.

still prevalent in the spoken language, especially when the pronoun is in the final position."—Merriam Webster's.

My assistant, old Doc Etain Shrdlu, could not have stated the case with any more incomprehensibility.

Now here's the way I look at it; but please understand that this is only my opinion, and is not a grammatical rule. "But," in "everyone went but . . ." is a preposition meaning "with the exception of." Therefore it calls for the objective pronouns, me, him, her, us, them. I think that most readers will agree that "everyone one but I" sounds stilted and artificial. On the other hand, "everyone went but me" is unaffected and idiomatic. Notice how natural it is to say: All had books but me. All won prizes but him.

Whether to use that or which often stumps the experts. Which would you use: My house is the only one (which?) that? was left standing? Mr. Colby's leaflet, C-8, contains a simple key that instantly solves the difficult construction. Status Quo

Good Evening

By Clint Dunathan

IF YOU MUST—Following yesterday's column concerning the common cold and the possibility of complications, a good friend of ours pointed out that a hospital is a comfortable place to be in at a time like that. This friend knows from personal experience, having not long ago occupied a bed in St. Francis hospital. While visiting this hospitalized friend we came to better know and understand some of the problems of the hospital staff. Rules that heretofore had seemed little more than whims now took on fundamental meaning. The seeming miracles of surgery, medicine, and nursing care became human accomplishments of skill and kindness. This humanitarian routine goes on hour by hour, through days and weeks, months and years, restoring health and saving lives. The hospital, viewed in this light, becomes a citadel of hope and health rather than a last resort for the desperately ill.

MINOR TO MAJOR—There are all sorts of people in hospital beds—the very sick, the not so sick, and the malingerers who would quickly recover if they had some other interest in life than themselves.

Doctors, nurses and the nurses aides have come to accept the patients for what they are, but too many patients expect a hospital to be somewhat like a weekend at the Waldorf. They are paying for service, they say grimly, and they're going to get it. To this end they complain about the room, the bed, the food, the necessity for routine visits by the nurse, and the delay when they ring and the harried nurse fails to appear the next moment. My friend told of one inconsiderate patient who rang the bell at intervals and when the nurse popped her head in would shout: "What do I want? Nothing except a little attention once in awhile!"

THE RULES—Hospitals establish definite hours for visitors to see patients, and the conditions under which the visits may be made. These rules are necessary for quite obvious reasons. First consideration is the welfare of the patient, who should not be subjected to visitors unless his condition permits.

Rules against children under 16 visiting a hospital are necessary both for the protection of the child and the hospital patients. Visitors too often turn the children into hallways to play while they chat with a sick friend. A few years ago in a hospital in an Upper Peninsula city a child poked into a doorway and fell from the second floor to the basement down a laundry chute. Fortunately the child landed on a pile of laundry and was uninjured. Children need watching. As visitors they add another burden onto the already over-worked hospital staff.

Hospital visiting hours should be observed for equally sensible reasons. There are times when the patient must rest, be bathed, eat his meals, receive the attention of the doctor and the nurse. He is in the hospital to recover his health, not to enjoy a day-long procession of visitors.

COOPERATION—One evening while I visited my friend at the

INTO THE PAST

Ten Years Ago

Escanaba—Mr. and Mrs. John M. Ahern are the parents of a son born Jan. 10 at St. Francis hospital.

Escanaba—Louis Sofia left yesterday for Los Angeles, Calif., to spend four months with his brothers and sisters.

Manistique—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Burdette celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary with a party at their home Jan. 7.

Gladstone—Miss Lucie Allan has returned to Sacramento, Calif., following several weeks spent here with her sister, Mrs. W. C. Miller, and with her mother in Manistique.

Twenty Years Ago

Manistique—O. G. Quick was re-elected president of the Manistique bank at elections held this week. Paul R. Baldwin was re-elected vice president; C. L. Smith, cashier; Roy E. Anderson, assistant cashier; and O. G. Quick, Charles Orr, E. W. Miller, R. B. Waddell and P. R. Baldwin, directors.

Gladstone—Claude Ebling has arrived from Stanley, N. D., to assume his duties here as assistant agricultural agent for the Soo Line railroad.

hospital there came a heavy rapping on the wall. I inquired what it was and my friend smiled, saying, "It's the patient in the next room. She's calling a nurse." I asked why she didn't use the bell and my friend explained that the patient in the next room believed her bell was being ignored by the nurses—so she hammered on the wall to attract attention. A few seconds later I heard the cantankerous patient berating the nurse because she had not come immediately.

Another time, talking with one of the nurses, I learned that they take their work with professional seriousness. Because of the nurse shortage, many work on holidays and weekends when women in other professions are enjoying leisure. Shop girls receive more consideration, many in clerical positions higher pay. Yet there are compensations, and one of these is the justifiable pride that goes with the nursing profession. What other profession commands the respect that follows the simple statement, "I am a nurse."

THE AIDES—They are called nurses' aides. They wear no caps yet their work is highly important in the operation of a hospital. To them fall a variety of tasks similar to those performed by nurses in training. The work of the aide has become increasingly important as the number of registered nurses decline. If it were not for them the nurse shortage would be felt even more keenly.

APPRECIATION—The reasonable person appreciates the service offered by the hospital, and the hospital staff appreciates the good conduct of the reasonable person who becomes their patient.

My friend tells me the nurses were efficient and cheerful, the food well-cooked and appetizing, the room and bed comfortable. And always in the background were the Sisters of the Third Order of St. Francis, moving quietly and competently through a variety of tasks ranging from cleaning chores to the administration of the hospital itself.

Being ill is a disagreeable experience at any time. But my friend recommends a hospital in the event my cold takes a turn for the worse.

Some notes on the writing trade:

The late Arthur Brisbane was fond of saying that if you put three chimpanzees to work on typewriters they would in time write all the books in the British museum.

This is probably true. But they would be more likely to turn out a Brisbane editorial first than, say, a book like Tolstoy's "War and Peace."

Unfortunately, there is no way to test this theory. No reward has yet been found that would induce an ape to spend that much time at a typewriter.

It isn't that apes are too self-conscious to put down their thoughts. They just believe more in direct action. They can better express their view of life by spitting through the bars at bystanders than by cramping themselves before a typewriter.

All children are natural writers, because they are natural talkers.

Words are wonderful to them. They let the words collide—and strange and splendid images are born. All children do this, even the dullest.

Writers sometimes complain that Chaucer and Shakespeare had an advantage because they wrote at a time when the English language was fresh. They say a writer has it tougher now because he has to labor to avoid literary clichés.

This is sour grapes—to use a bromide as old as Aescop. A writer has trouble getting away from worn-out phrases because he has spent too much of his life studying what other people wrote and said. And his mind is cloyed with the commonplace remarks he hears all around him every day.

But no child ever talks in hackneyed terms. Not until he has been put through the wringer of education. To him the English language is as fresh and powerful as it was to Chaucer and Shakespeare, and he uses it as boldly. The spreading immortal language of ours, the greatest tongue the world has known—it will always be fresh and new to the writer who dares to bend it to his needs with a child's freedom.

Let me give a borrowed example of child's matchless gift of imagery. Columnist Frank Farrell published it recently in the New York World-Telegram.

A radio producer's small daughter spent the afternoon at the American Museum of Natural History, a storehouse of stuffed animals and bony extinct monsters.

When the mother asked where she had been, the small girl replied:

"To a dead zoo."

Ever since reading that anecdote I have been in a mood of gentle despair. A trained writer could work a month and never achieve the capsule perfection of this child's offhand description of a museum.

Perhaps every writer should hire out as part-time baby sitter and eavesdrop on some childish prattle. It might loosen him up when he went back to his typewriter.

On the other hand he might come back and start writing something like this:

"Da, da, da, da, da! Glub Glub!"

Maybe that is what happened to Gertrude Stein, who wrote "A rose is a rose is a rose is—"

You can't depend on a child with a single track mind.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—Significantly, the Republican who protested loudest backstage over the Democrats increasing their majority on the Senate foreign relations committee was Senator Taft.

It was commonly supposed that Oregon's Senator Wayne Morse would get the Republican vacancy on the foreign relations committee if the Democrats hadn't taken that extra seat for themselves. But privately Senator Taft had his eye on it, too.

When he got the news that the Democrats had decided to absorb the vacancy by increasing their own majority eight to five, Taft stormed over to Democratic National Chairman Howard McGrath.

"The boys don't like this," exploded the forthright senator from Ohio.

The senator from Rhode Island simply shrugged.

MERCI TRAIN

The French Merci Train, in thanks for the Friendship Train, is now being loaded at the port of Le Havre onto the SS Magellan en route to the United States. Here is the description of the train's departure from Paris as given by Leon Pearson over NBC:

"A freight train of 49 cars loaded with the hearts of a million Frenchmen pulled out of Paris this morning bound for Le Havre and New York. Before its journey is ended that train will have reached every state in the U. S. and its spirit will have touched the entire country—49 cars, one for each state plus the District of Columbia.

"I walked the whole length of that train this morning before the ceremonies and the speechmaking began and marveled at the way the French railway workers who are principally responsible for this gratitude train have repainted and decorated those old boxcars that every American doughboy knew so well.

"The railroad cars are packed even tighter than when they carried eight horses and forty soldiers to the battlefields of Chateau-Thierry and Belleau Wood. They are packed with paintings of the old masters, with sculpture and with historic documents. They are packed with elegant gowns made by the French designers of fashion, with fancy work and lace and embroidery, with hand-painted china and porcelain, and with thousands of dolls from the children of France to the children of the U. S. A.

"More than 50,000 different objects—the gifts of a million Frenchmen, ranging from the president of the French republic down to the poor little girl whose doll didn't have any hair, so she cut off some of her own to make her gift presentable for the gratitude train. The train is due in Le Havre this evening where the cars—for the cars as well as the contents are a gift—will be loaded on the SS Magellan for New York."

LABOR FRIEND GETS IRKED

Now that the Democrats are running things on Capitol Hill, organized labor should be careful not to antagonize the public the way the National Association of Manufacturers did in the 80th Congress.

The American people are quick to resent strong-arm tactics by any group, and one pro-labor senator, Utah's deep-thinking Elbert Thomas, chairman of the Senate labor committee, is already resentful.

What burned Thomas up was an attempt by his labor friends to dictate membership on his committee. When labor lobbyists went so far as to tell Thomas whom to hire and fire on his staff, Thomas, usually a gentle Utahan, got his dander up.

Thomas wanted to keep Senator Irving Ives, New York Republican, on his committee to give the new labor program a bipartisan approach. It was Ives, when the Taft-Hartley bill first came up, who helped Democrats override it inside the committee, and forced Taft to carry the fight to the Senate floor. In the end, Ives voted for the Taft-Hartley act, so labor last week objected to keeping him on the labor committee. Other Democrats sided with labor and Thomas was overruled. Ives retired.

However, Thomas put his foot down when labor friends tried to stack his committee staff. No senator has been a better friend to labor than the senator from Utah, so he decided he could be trusted to employ a fair staff.

REAL ESTATE LOBBY

The real estate lobby will fire its first salvo of the new year on Wednesday when it plays host to some 200 congressmen. The affair is slated to be held in the presidential room of Washington's Hotel Statler and is officially labeled as purely social. The lobby's real purpose, however, is to meet the new congressmen and to lay the groundwork for selling them on the "evils" of rent control and public housing.

Every step in this sales technique has been carefully planned to give the appearance of a home-town social. There'll be no long-winded speeches and no cocktails. The congressmen will hear only off-hand references to the long-range housing and slum-clearance projects—the lobby's real targets. To add to the folksy atmosphere, the lobby has arranged for each congressman to receive the invitation from one of his own constituents—an invitation that is difficult to turn down.

NEW MEXICAN SENATOR

The man President Truman is counting upon to put over his farm program in the Senate sits at the tail of the agriculture committee, not at the head. He is former Secretary of Agriculture Clinton Anderson, now senator from New Mexico, who is low-man-on-the-totem-pole under the Senate's seniority system.

About this time of year the office is wondering if the boss remembers whose funeral he attended a year ago.

New York—Lady down in Miami writes she's been bewitched by the police force and the transit company. Doesn't say how they did it, but she says even though she keeps her mouth clamped shut, strangers keep blasting away in her head, and odd words come out.

She says even when she's asleep with her teeth clenched, the stranger in her head keeps yack-yacking away, until her husband's about to leave her. Says she knows she's a victim of evil telepathy, because she wouldn't be caught dead saying the things she says if she herself were saying 'em. Lately, she adds, the malevolent influences have been concentrating on her 72-year-old grandma, and that is carrying things too far.

"It's a scandal," she says. "My name has been drug from one end of Miami to the other, and it's got to stop."

The lady is not lonesome in her delusion. One of the most common complaints from the customers today is wrapped around the idea that a wicked machine has been invented, to steal away the soul. I get scads of letters about new and diabolical inventions which rob the brain of its treasures, and plant foreign seeds of thought and speech in inoffensive heads. The managing editor of a big newspaper was saying the same thing recently: His correspondents continually fancy that their privacy has been invaded by everything from wire-tap to infernal machine.

This atmosphere of gentle goofiness is not entirely unreasonable. It is indeed a Buck Rogers age, with science contributing atomic alarm clocks, missiles which think their way to target, and sundry spooky apparatus to the consternation of us all. I just threw away a serious story about a scientist who was going to grow steaks on a vine, like watermelons. Who is to say that some spike-bearded wizard isn't tuned into the head of my Miami lady, for evil reasons of his own?

Even the publicity handouts are taking on an eerie quality, this year, a mad admixture of science and alchemy, designed to stir the lay brain out of an earthly lethargy. By reading only the first paragraphs of these press-agented offspring of business, you can convince yourself that everybody, including general electric, is stark, stumbling nuts.

Schmitt Describes Postwar Conditions In West Germany

Economic conditions in Western Germany are improving rapidly, business activity is brisk and work is plentiful but living conditions still are extremely difficult, Fred Schmitt, Escanaba businessman, told the Escanaba Lions club Monday night. Schmitt recently returned from a trip to Cologne, Germany, where he visited relatives.

Housing is the most serious problem, Schmitt said, and most families are living in rubble of bombed homes. Factories in the German Ruhr are humming with activity, manufacturing steel and steel products for European economic recovery. Coal mining also is at a brisk pace, he said.

Wages for the German workers are comparatively low in proportion to cost of food, clothing, etc., the speaker said. Stores are well stocked but prices are too high for average German worker.

Rationing and price control still are in effect, but the black market is vigorous and general, according to Schmitt. Conditions in Germany are no worse and perhaps somewhat better than in

Wednesday Is
A. Allen Gordon

A. Allen Gordon will speak on "Landscape Gardening" at the regular meeting of the Escanaba Woman's club Wednesday afternoon at the Recreation building.

Mr. Gordon's years of study and extensive work in many parts of the country have made him most capable in his chosen field so that his subject is of practical as well as aesthetic value. He will include in his talk suggestions for planting of indigenous types of shrubbery and flowers for this climate and local soil conditions.

His association for several years with the Wittbold Florists of Chicago has given him a most thorough background for flower growing and arrangements. Now that he is situated in Escanaba, Mr. Gordon's experience will be available to every one who either gardens seriously or is otherwise attracted to gardening as a fascinating activity to beautify the home.

Miss Mary Groos will be the featured musician for the afternoon. She will announce her own violin selections and will be accompanied by Miss Suzy Lindstrom.

A short but important business session will be held at 2:45 followed by the program promptly at 3:00. Mrs. O. V. Thatcher is chairman of the meeting assisted by Mmes. J. W. Watson, John R. Tornberg and George Grenholm as hostesses.

Social Situations

SITUATION: You are on a party line and frequently when you try to use your telephone your line is in use.

WRONG WAY: Keep lifting the receiver off the hook.

RIGHT WAY: Leave the telephone alone for a few minutes, giving the person using your line a chance to complete his call.

SITUATION: When you are engaged in an interview in your office you receive a telephone call, and you do not want the person in your office to know what is being discussed over the telephone.

WRONG WAY: Ask the person you are interviewing if he will step outside the office for a few minutes.

RIGHT WAY: Ask the telephone caller if you may call him back in a few minutes.

SITUATION: You receive a telephone call and the person calling chats for quite some time.

WRONG WAY: You bring the conversation to a close and say goodbye.

RIGHT WAY: Realize that the caller is the one who should end the conversation.

Blueprint for Beauty:
Use Lipstick as Anti-Chap Aid

KEEPING lips chapped when wintry winds blow is the job of a good emollient lipstick. When the thermometer drops is the time when a lipstick needs to be a lubricant as well as a coat of lively color. Pure vegetable coloring gives you a pretty coat but your lip-protection comes from a red stick endowed with super-rich oils.

Take time out from your fun on skates, skis, horseback, or bicycle to renew your lipstick coat often. Dry lip tissues will respond to the oils in your lipstick like a dry skin responds to a rich night cream.

At bedtime, when you cream your face, cream your lips. The richer the cream, the better lip tissue will be able to resist the cold weather that tries to ruffle it up.

Held Last Night

A combined business and social meeting, with the husbands of members guests at the social was held last evening by Lewis Cass Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at the James E. Frost and Merritt Kasson homes.

Plans were made at the business meeting to prepare a box for the Kate Duncan Smith school in Grant, Ala. This will consist of contributions for a continuous rummage sale which is held to help support the school and also of furnishings for the small apartments for its teachers. The public is invited to contribute to this box. Mrs. Fred Ross is in charge of it and all donations must reach her by January 21.

Plans also were made for the annual Washington Day dinner at which the four good citizenship girls, whose names are to be announced later, will be guests.

Retiring Charwoman Gives Her Rules For Efficiency In Work

By JANE EADS

Washington—Working women might lose little if any time from their jobs if they followed the pattern of "plenty of rest, good diet and no going-out during the work week" that Mrs. Dinah Belford set up for herself 31 years ago.

Mrs. Belford, 60, who is retiring as a charwoman for the Public Buildings Administration, Federal Works Agency, has taken sick leave on only two occasions during her 31 years of employment. On one of these occasions she was struck by a trolley on her way to work. The other time she had gripe.

Few Federal workers, especially women, have a record comparable to that of Mrs. Belford, FWA officials say. She has done all the housework in her three-room apartment and cooked, laundered and sewed for her husband before he died 14 years ago. She always worked on the night shift, getting off after midnight—and incidentally, has worked in the same building the entire 31 years, the old State Department building.

"I got home around 2 a. m., got to bed and got up at 10 or 11 o'clock, did my housework and cooked my meals," Mrs. Belford says. "I crocheted or embroidered until it was time to report for work at 4:30 p. m. I got my rest, didn't go out during the work-week, and this routine has kept me on the job." FWA says her efficiency ratings have been "excellent."

DDT On Ice

Entomologists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture are sprinkling DDT on snow and ice in the Arctic areas to kill the first mosquitoes that hatch in the spring and become a tortuous feature of the short arctic summer. They report that as little as a tenth of a pound to the acre does the job, and airplane distribution of the DDT over broad areas makes for economy. The discovery of this new treatment came about while federal entomologists (insect experts) were continuing their wartime research for protection of military forces in Alaska. The entomologists, cooperating with the Army and with Canadian scientists have been experimenting in the vicinity of Churchill, on the west shore of Hudson Bay. They say the DDT treatment is proving more effective than several other of the new insecticides in killing larvae when the ice melts. They add that the very light application that killed the insect pests did not seem to injure the fish in the streams.

Harry Toy Offers His Resignation As Detroit Police Head

Detroit, Mich., (P) — Police Commissioner Harry S. Toy said Monday that he had offered his resignation to Mayor Eugene I. Van Antwerp but that it had been refused.

Toy said he told the mayor: "If you want my resignation, it is up to you. All you have to do is say so."

After a private conference with Toy, Van Antwerp announced that "the commissioner has been running the department in the best interests of the city and is very capable."

The Detroit Times said earlier that Toy, in a fit of anger, had written his resignation for presentation to the mayor.

Among reasons which the Times listed for the break between Toy and Van Antwerp was "a persistent rumor" that the former state attorney general and supreme court justice plans to run for mayor this year.

John Groop Finds Working With The Handicapped Both Satisfying And Rewarding

John Groop of 225 Ogden avenue has one of the best jobs in the world. As far as many persons are concerned, his job is one of the best a government ever created.

If you have ever seen someone hobbling along the street minus a leg, or someone valiantly struggling for education despite his handicaps, you've probably wanted to help him. Most of us are not financially able to play Santa Claus or the Good Provider.

Together, however, through tax money, everyone does help the handicapped. And John Groop's job is to help the handicapped with these funds. It's probably one of the most down-to-earth and satisfying jobs in the world. And it takes a combination of business acumen, psychology and ministerial abilities.

Helps Over 200

The job, of course, is not without its problems. Some people want help, when helping themselves would be the best thing they ever did for themselves. Still others need so much help that state agencies have to balk a little or funds would be dried up before the middle of the year.

That's when administrators like John Groop have the delicate, diplomatic task of convincing relatives and other state agencies that they could help.

Mr. Groop reports that at present more than 200 persons are listed in his records, which cover both Delta and Menominee counties. Some are extremely handicapped, physically or mentally, and some have minor handicaps which can be corrected with a minimum of treatment and education.

"The primary job of the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation is to restore the vocationally handicapped to working usefulness, and to enable them to live a life as near normal as possible," Mr. Groop explains.

"To do this, medical examinations, and oftentimes psychological tests, are used in conjunction with educational and vocational tests. These tell the field agent the extent of handicap, how it may be alleviated and what type of planning and treatment is necessary," the field agent says.

Artificial Appliances

A program of physical restoration is often needed. This can include medical or surgical treatment, providing for artificial appliances, and occupational therapy. Recently an Escanaba woman, 24 years old, was sent to the University hospital in Ann Arbor for a Blaylock operation to relieve a tetralogy of Fallot, the heart imperfection which causes "blue babies." In many instances these surgical treatments are arranged in cooperation with interested individuals and state agencies.

A highly responsible and lofty activity of this agency is providing suitable education for the handicapped. Some are sent to vocational schools where they can learn anything from watch making to beauty culture. Others are helped in their college education through tuition grants.

Jobs For Handicapped

A tutorial service is provided for homebound persons. Anyone over the age of 16 is eligible for service from the agency, if they are handicapped. Occupational therapy is given in the home when individuals cannot leave.

Mr. Groop also helps handicapped persons find employment, in cooperation with the Michigan State Employment Service.

Sometimes the handicapped person can start as soon as a job is found, at other times he must have medical attention and more education before he can begin. Whichever course is taken is decided jointly by the individual and Mr. Groop.

To find these handicapped persons is very often a problem. Those who need help most often fail to utilize the services of the OVH. Many are referred to the field agent by schools, welfare agencies, employment offices and the health department. Newspaper notices, Mr. Groop says, invariably bring several to the office. Still others are referred to him by relatives and friends, doctors and civic-minded persons.

Five U. P. Agents

The OVH, an adjunct of the State Department of Public Instruction, has been functioning in Michigan since 1921. Five general field agents work in Upper Michigan under supervision of Joseph Shipman of Escanaba. Roy Hendra of Marquette is special consultant for ex-tubercular patients and several representatives attend the mentally handicapped. A system of cross references enables agents to work in close cooperation with each other and with the special agents.

"Looking out for handicapped persons is not always pleasant work, but it has its bright moments," Mr. Groop, a former member of the EHS faculty, says. "One case of truly successful rehabilitation is worth all the headaches and minor problems confronting a field agent."

"If I can see a man or woman able to walk or talk again, see him enjoy a job well done, or know that he is getting a good

Kaiser-Frazer May Slash Auto Output By 300, Idle 4,000

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

Detroit, Mich., (AP) — Kaiser Frazer Corp. may cut back car output by nearly 300 units a day and sharply reduce employment at its Willow Run plant.

This was disclosed at a news conference Sunday at which K-F executives said it would be due to restrictions placed on installment buying by regulation "W".

Kaiser-Frazer has been making about 675 cars a day. A cut to 400 a day would idle from 3,500 to 4,000 employees or put all 15,000 of its Willow Run workers on short hours.

The wartime regulation "W" was revived about four months ago. It requires that time payments on a new car purchase must be completed in from 15 to 18 months, depending upon the purchase price.

Management in the making

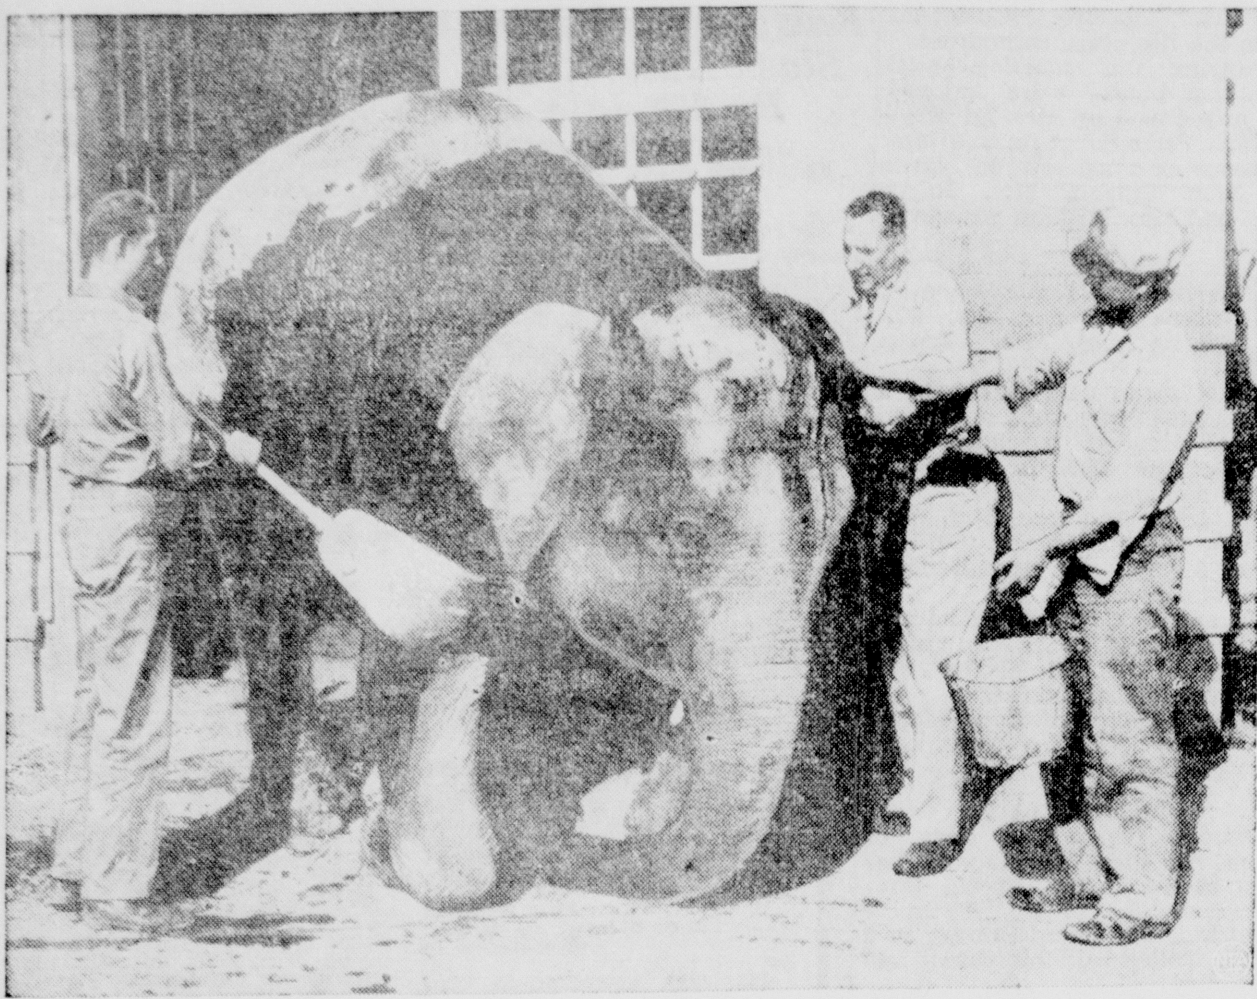

THIS young man is a telephone cable splicer. Some day he may be president of Michigan Bell. That's the way it works in the telephone business.

Those who are top executives of the company today started at the bottom. At each step up through the ranks, they prepared themselves for bigger responsibilities.

It's a telephone company policy to make promotions, on the basis of merit, from within the ranks of its own experienced employees. Management and the employees of the company, then, are simply the same people at different stages of their telephone careers.

Knowing of the opportunities which exist in the telephone company encourages Michigan Bell people to do the best job they know how to do. And that, in turn, goes a long way toward assuring you good service at low cost.

Washington's Home Town Prepares For 200th Anniversary

By JANE EADS

Washington—There will be big doings all next year in George Washington's home town, Quantico, Va., down the Potomac from the capital, will be celebrating its 200th birthday anniversary.

While General Washington made his home at Mount Vernon a few miles down the line, it was in Alexandria he conducted most of his personal business transactions. He worshipped there at Christ Church and talked over the day's affairs with cronies at Gadshill's Tavern.

Robert E. Lee also lived in Alexandria, and General Braddock made his headquarters at Carlyle House, where in 1755 he prepared for the ill-fated expedition to Fort Duquesne and held a conference with the seven royal governors at the beginning of the French and Indian wars. The town was incorporated on July 13, 1749, under the name of Alexandria for John Alexander, original owner of the land.

Tentative plans of the Alexandria Bicentennial Commission call for opening of the year-long celebration on January 2. On the 19th there will be a huge banquet observing the birthday anniversary of Robert E. Lee. The guest speaker will be Douglas Freeman, Pulitzer prize winning biographer of Lee and Washington.

What Beverly Campbell, the Commission's professional "celebration director," says will be the biggest military parade ever to take place in the South will be a feature of Washington's birthday celebration Feb. 22. It is expected to take a "good four hours" to pass any point. More than 150 national guard and regular army units have been invited to participate.

Parade And Ball

The parade will be followed up with a costume ball on the night of the General's birthday. Other processions will include a "parade of progress" which will depict the city's resources, culture and wealth, and its development through the years.

Another high-light will be a week-long celebration beginning July 11. A huge dramatic presentation to be called "Cavalcade of Alexandria" will be given in an open-air amphitheater under professional direction, with some 600 persons participating every night.

Somewhere along the line a Queen may be selected, but Mr. Campbell says this hasn't been approved by the commission as yet. It's his idea that candidates will be put up by the town's 40 or 50 civic, patriotic and fraternal organizations, the winner to be selected at a public quiz show. The girl who can answer the most questions best about Alexandria history will wear the royal crown.

Alexandrians have already gotten out a souvenir medal to be sold to visitors during the year.

Ten-Year Search Unravels Tale Of Lost Russ Goose

Denver—Not all fliers coming out of Russia are aviators escaping (or deserting, depending on the point of view) from behind the iron curtain. One such story, that began 10 years ago and has only now had its final chapter written, is told by J. A. Neff of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, in the Western bird student's journal, Condor.

In November, 1940, J. M. Williams of Gridley, Calif., shot a goose of a kind he had never seen before. On its leg was a metal band with the identifying inscription: "510H - Moskwa - 13152B." He sent the band to Mr. Neff, who recognized it as of Russian origin.

However, war between Germany and the USSR broke out about then, so that it was 1946 before further pursuit of information about the band became possible. Many months later, Mr. Neff had a letter from A. Tugarinov, ornithologist of the Soviet Academy of Science.

The band, Mr. Tugarinov stated, was one of a series issued to a Capt. G. Grinberg in 1938-39. This officer was then on duty on the Chukche peninsula, the northeasternmost point of Siberia. Subsequently he was killed in the war, and all his papers were lost, so that no record of the banding of this goose was recovered. From Mr. Williams' description, however, the bird was recognized as an emperor goose, native to

'Bluebird' Brings Cheer To Youngster's Sickbed

Two-thirds of the "Bluebird Story" is mail order stationer Charles W. Rock (left) and his wife (right). The other third is little Douglas Crow (above), who is recuperating from virus pneumonia.

By EDWARD H. HOFFMAN
NEA Staff Correspondent

Independence, Mo., — (NEA)—A far-roving "bluebird" has brought great happiness to five-year-old Douglas Crow, son of a TWA pilot, who for eight weeks has been kept in bed by a virus infection, pneumonia, and a resulting fever.

Just as Doug was getting pretty bored he received a letter, with a local postmark, promising other letters. Over the span of a month these came from such scattered places as Spencer, Ia.; Boston, Detroit, Hollywood; Flushing, N. Y.; Portland, Ore.; Meridian, Miss. All were in the same writing, all came by air mail, and all, like the first, were signed just "Bluebird."

Curiosity took Doug's attention from his sickness. The mailman's arrival became the day's highlight. He plagued his parents to tell him who "Bluebird" was—but they were as ignorant as he. Even the neighbors got into the guessing contest.

One day, after the letters started, a woman knocked on the Crow door, thrust in a package, said only "This is for Doug," and went away. The only clue was a card signed "Secret Pal."

Finally, one letter, after the usual description of a trip, set a date when "Bluebird" would appear in person. At the appointed time Doug was well enough to be up. There was a knock on the door. There stood a short gray-haired man who, given whiskers, could have doubled for Santa Claus.

"I'm Bluebird," said 61-year-old Charles W. Rock, a mail order stationer who lives less than a block from the Crow home and who had visited them frequently enough to distract suspicion from himself.

What he had done was prepare the letters and send them to friends around the country with instructions when to start them off by air mail.

Later it was learned that another neighbor, unknown to Rock and his wife have used this method of cheering a shut-in. Some years ago a close friend was hit by a bus and had her back broken. Mrs. Rock wrote her a similar series of letters, signed "Sunshine."

During the war, Rock sent his sister in St. Louis a series of letters supposed to be from a soldier preparing to go overseas. She never mentioned them. Some years later, Rock asked point-blank if she had received them.

"I hid them," she confessed. "I was afraid my husband might not understand."

Sgt. Legree Uses Voice To Save Flint's Youth

Sergeant Wilburn Legree: His ticket is a traffic song.

Flint, Mich., (NEA)—Sergeant Wilburn Legree probably is the only police officer who gets paid by a city for writing and presenting a weekly singing radio program. And his admirers think that Sergeant Legree is the only radio singer who can prove that his voice has saved many lives over a period of years.

Legree is Flint's "Singing Cop." For more than 300 weeks without a break, beginning in March, 1943, he has broadcast a safety program of songs and stories, has appeared at schools, has organized and supervised a safety patrol bigger than the police forces of many much larger cities.

He has made song the blood and sinew of an intensive campaign that has saved dozens of child lives and made Flint one of the safest cities in the country.

In 1938 Legree had been on the Flint police force for two years when the city woke up to the fact that from five to 11 boys and girls were being killed needlessly every year on the streets. Legree was handed the assignment of teaching Flint's 30,000 youngsters to keep out of the way of automobiles.

In his spare time Legree had been studying singing seriously. He had been baritone soloist with the local symphony and before music and civic clubs throughout Michigan. He decided to make himself the singing cop.

At first he just revised a few popular songs to include the idea of safety. Then he began writing his own. By October, 1939, he had sold the idea so thoroughly that the Flint school system adopted music as its medium for teaching safety.

The kids ate it up. They began to look forward to visits from the smiling cop who sang to them and with them. It wasn't long before children on the street corners were singing such songs as:

Stop! Wait! A car's in the street.
Don't you see it coming?
Hear the motor humming?

Freckles And His Friends

Blondie

Stop! Wait And take your time.
Help to save a life today.
Try it—to the tune of "The Gang's All Here." You'll see why Legree's songs catch on.

In 1943 he began broadcasting every Tuesday evening over a local station—songs, advice, dramatized stories about youngsters who were killed or injured because they didn't observe the safety rules.

He conducts safety assemblies before junior safety councils, Girl and Boy Scout troops, special bicycle safety groups; he has programs before adult P. T. A., luncheon, civic and other groups; he takes youngsters on educational tours through the Police Department.

He has built up an organization of 600 safety patrol boys and has 56 school traffic officers working for him.

The results? Of 400 cities reporting to the National Safety Council, in 1945 Flint tied with Detroit for second safest in the country. In 1947 Flint's second place position was clean cut, without a tie. When 1948 figures

Suburban Oak Park Fights Race Track License At Detroit

Detroit, Mich., (AP)—Petitions protesting the issuance of a horse racing license to either the Michigan Racing Association (MRA) or the Thoroughbred Turf Club (TTC) were forwarded to Racing Commissioner Frederick E. Harris.

The petitions were signed at a Sunday night meeting called by representatives of three suburban Oak Park civic groups.

Both the MRA and the TTC are seeking racing licenses and a lease of the State fairgrounds race track at Detroit for the 1949 season and each has promised to build a track of its own for racing in 1950 if granted the license.

Both petitioners have indicated they have options for land for a track in Oak Park, an Oakland county suburban city of between 2,000 and 3,000.

URANIUM ORE ADVICE GIVEN

Other Minerals React To Geiger Counter

Cautioning would-be uranium ore prospectors, the geology division of the conservation department advised there are other radio-active minerals in the upper peninsula that will fool a Geiger counter.

Sufficient quantities of thorite will cause a Geiger counter to react violently. A certain number of cosmic rays penetrate the earth's atmosphere continually. These rays will also register on a Geiger counter. The geology division warned that the counter is a qualitative and not a quantitative instrument.

A mining or prospecting license is not required in this state. However, persons planning to explore for minerals on either public or private land should make advance arrangements with the owner. Leases are necessary to prospect on state lands and are offered at public auction. Final bids are subject to the approval of the conservation commission.

Bobby Soxers' Idol Mitchum Convicted In Marijuana Case

Los Angeles, Calif., (AP)—Robert Mitchum, idol of the Bobby-Soxers was convicted Monday of conspiracy to possess marijuana in a 45-minute trial in Superior Court.

The end of the trial came with suddenness, as the result of a surprising maneuver by Jerry Giesler, Mitchum's attorney.

When the trial opened, Giesler waived a jury trial on the conspiracy count only, and agreed to submit the case solely on the transcript of earlier testimony before the grand jury.

A deputy district attorney read the grand jury testimony, both prosecution and defense announced they had no witnesses to call, and Superior Judge Clement D. Nye announced his verdict:

"Guilty as charged."

Convicted with the 31-year-old Mitchum were two co-defendants, actress Lila Leeds, 25, and Robin Ford, 31, a real estate salesman. Their cases likewise had been submitted.

One Hercules moth found in Australia had a wingspan of 14 inches.

Search Renewed
For Man Lost
Since Wednesday

Search is being renewed for Isaac Truckey, an aged man who for the past several months has been making his home at the Wendland Convalescent home in the Manistique Heights vicinity.

Truckey left some time during either Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning and has not been seen since. At first it was thought that he might have hitch hiked to St. Ignace, where he had lived before going to the home, but a checkup shows that he has not been there.

Fears for his safety are increased by the fact that he left without hat or overcoat and wore rubbers over his house slippers.

He is described as being about 5 feet eight inches tall, heavily bearded and dark complexioned.

Contributions of flour or cash to buy flour will be solicited for the Christian Rural Overseas Program in Manistique and Schoolcraft County this week. E. T. King, chairman of the local CROP drive, announced this morning.

Canvassers received their subscription blanks last night (Monday) at the court house and were assigned streets or areas to be canvassed.

The canvassing will be done on Wednesday and Thursday of this week in the city. Canvassing may extend over to Friday or Saturday in some rural areas.

Every family will be urged to give cash to buy a sack of flour. Flour will be bought wholesale in 100 pound sacks, but the equivalent of 25 or 50 pounds is a very acceptable contribution, Mr. King stated. One hundred pounds will cost about $7.00; fifty pounds about $3.50; and twenty-five pounds will cost about $1.75. Any amount great or small will help save someone's life.

Schoolcraft County's goal is a carload of flour, which amounts to 600 one hundred pound sacks.

PLACE MOTHER

Child Delinquency

Mrs. Lawrence Smith was placed on six months probation, given a 30-day suspended jail sentence and paid court costs of $5.00 Monday following her arraignment before Justice of Peace Henry Ranguette on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Michigan State Police made the arrest after investigating the disappearance of money, estimated at about $50.00 from the Oscar Sinnaue home in St. Nicholas colony during a wedding party Saturday night.

Two minor children, a girl 12 and a boy 14, after continued questioning confessed to taking some of the money which was contained in envelopes and had been given as wedding gifts. Authorities said the children stated they had given the money to Mrs. Smith who concealed the fact that the children were involved.

Of the money taken, $27.00 had been restored, state police said. In the case of the boy, who has been in trouble before, a petition had been made to Judge Wm. Miller for juvenile court action.

Hockey Rhubarb At Escanaba Indoor Rink

THAT MAN O'LEARY—This bit of unscheduled action ensued in the second period of the rip-roaring 4-4 overtime tie played by the Escanaba Hawks and Gladstone Indians before a crowd of 750 at the Escanaba indoor rink Sunday night. As the story goes, Ed O'Leary, burly Gladstone defenseman, became so perturbed when Dud Paquette's shot bounced off him and into the net for a goal that he rapped his stick on top of the goal. Paquette, still behind the goal, thought the rap was intended for him, and this tangle resulted. So long did the "rhubarb" last that Bernie Schultz, Escanaba Daily Press photographer, had plenty of time to take his camera right out on the ice and get this close-up. At this stage of the melee, Referee Art Gardner has things fairly well under control. Don't try to find Art. He's buried between Paquette and O'Leary. That's big O'Leary at the right. Babs Petaja, Escanaba coach, has contributed his bit and is retrieving his stick at the extreme right. Johnny Gorench, Escanaba defenseman, is hiding his time at the left awaiting future developments, where Linesman Wallace Cameron is right behind him, and the two fellows with their back to you, front and center, are Gordon Haga, Gladstone coach, and Bud Hanson, Hawk forward. The hockey thriller pleased the largest crowd ever to see a game in Escanaba. Tonight, the Hawks play at Marquette, and two games are on tap here this weekend—Sault Ste. Marie Saturday night and Stambaugh Sunday afternoon.

Wolverines Smart After 45-36 Loss To Purdue Quint

Lafayette, Ind., Jan. 11 (AP)—Michigan's Big Nine defending champions headed back to Ann Arbor today smarting from their second conference defeat in three days on the road.

The second half of the one-two punch was administered last night by an iron-man Purdue team, 45 to 36. Minnesota beat the traveling Wolverines 45-31 Saturday night.

The starting Boilermaker five went all the way, committing only seven personal fouls. The difference between that total and 16 fouls committed by Michigan's nine players accounted for seven points of Purdue's nine-point winning margin.

Michigan pulled into a 27-all tie with 11 minutes to go after trailing 25-14 at halftime.

But that brief flurry, sparked by Guard Pete Elliott, was nullified by buckets by Boilermaker forwards Norris Caudell and Howard Williams and three free throws.

Caudell and Williams collected 13 points each on identical performances of six field goals and one free throw apiece to lead individual scoring. Michigan's evenly-divided point-making was paced by Bill Mikulich with seven.

Illinois Tops Big 9 Race With 3-0 Mark

Chicago, Jan. 11 (AP)—Illinois has become the team of destiny in the Big Nine basketball race.

The Illini rallied for a double-overtime victory against Indiana Saturday and again came from behind last night to edge Ohio State 64-63. Both wins were especially impressive since they were recorded on the road.

A free throw in the last seconds accounted for both victories. Last night at Columbus, Wally Osterkorn arched one in for the margin giving Illinois a 3-0 conference mark, to remain on top in the title chase.

Minnesota and Purdue also remained undefeated, each posting victory No. 2. At Minneapolis, the Gophers cruised to a 47-33 decision over Wisconsin.

Indiana handed Iowa its second successive setback, 50-39.

Big Nine warfare continues Saturday with Minnesota invading Purdue in the headline attraction, Ohio State going to Iowa, Indiana to Wisconsin and Northwestern to Michigan. Illinois entertains Creighton in non-league action.

ESCANABA DAILY PRESS SPORTS

"It Seems To Me"

BY JIM WARD

Caught on the rebound: Hockey won itself a lot of new friends at the Escanaba indoor rink Sunday night . . . You couldn't find a disappointed person in the whole crowd of 750 . . . The game was strictly a crowd-pleaser, replete with fine scoring plays, hard body checks and a few occasions when players felt inclined to resort to fists (witness the picture elsewhere on this page) . . . Officials Art Gardner and Wallace Cameron had their hands full, particularly in the third and overtime periods . . . The first two periods were remarkably clean for a Gladstone-Escanaba encounter.

Man, how they booed this fellow Ed O'Leary upon his return to the ice after his first penalty! . . . It's all part of the game and the fun . . . Actually, O'Leary is a first-rate competitor and rates high with all the Hawks . . . That goes for Gordon Haga, Indian manager . . . It's just that hockey gets you during the game . . . And after the game you can go up to any opponent (well, almost any) with whom you've been tangling and say: "Swell game!"

No doubt about it, hockey is off to a flying start in this area . . . A crowd of 750 is nearly double most of the crowds of the 1947-48 season . . . And after sampling that 4-4 overtime thriller between the Hawks and Indians here Sunday night, they'll be back for more . . . If they're not, they'll be missing a good bet . . . Fans are in for a real treat here Saturday night when a fast team of very capable Sault Ste. Marie youngsters makes its first local appearance . . . The Soo club has the advantage of artificial ice at Pullar stadium and will constitute a real test for an improved Escanaba aggregation . . . The Hawks are improving with every game.

Incidentally, Dud Paquette said the goal he thought he'd made in the overtime period was his "best play" . . . Too bad it was nullified by Art Gardner's whistle . . . It would have given the Hawks a 5-4 triumph instead of a 4-4 deadlock . . . It was rough watching that 4-0 lead dissipate . . . Gladstone's five-man up pressure tactics sure paid off . . . And the Hawks, undoubtedly tired after working hard to build a 4-0 lead had to work their heads off to hold at least a 4-4 tie in the overtime . . . They had several near hits, though, that could easily have won the game.

The conclusion is that you never know what to expect in a hockey game . . . That element makes it one of the most popular of all spectator sports . . . The world's fastest game is without a peer from the standpoint of spectator interest . . . Even fire-department basketball is tame after watching hockey . . . The game is sure to grow here steadily.

And when the day comes that Escanaba has an artificial ice rink of 180x80 dimensions against the present 120-80, which by all hockey standards is far too small, Escanaba will take its rightful place in U. P. hockey . . . A larger rink would permit a much faster brand of hockey . . . And Escanabans, all solid sports fans, would welcome that.

Four Men Indicted On Cage Bribery Charge

New York, Jan. 11 (AP)—Four men were indicted yesterday on charges of attempting to bribe a player to "fix" college basketball games.

A New York county (Manhattan) Grand jury indicted all four defendants, and a Federal grand jury in Washington, D. C., indicted three of them.

The accused—all free in ball of $20,000 each—are Jack Levy, 40, of Miami, Fla.; William Divlin, 43; Joseph Aronowitz, 35, and Philip Klein, 34. The last three are from New York. They have denied the charges since their arrest here last Tuesday night. They were accused by David Shapiro of New York, co-captain of the basketball team of George Washington University, Washington, of offering him a $1,000 bribe to throw a game at Madison Square Garden that night.

The Washington indictments named Levy, Aronowitz and Klein. Assistant U. S. Attorney John W. Finnelly said the indictments were based on offers allegedly made to Shapiro last month in a Washington hotel. If convicted the defendants would be liable to a maximum of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Conviction on the New York indictments could bring imprisonment from one to five years and a fine up to $10,000.

The Escanaba Hawks can go into undisputed first place in the Upper Michigan Hockey league by beating the South Marquette Athletic club at the Marquette Palestra tonight.

Currently, they are tied with Gladstone for first, each having won one and tied one for a total of three points. Two points are given for a victory and one point for a tie.

The SMAC group lost an overtime opener to Gladstone, 4-3, but since then it walloped Newberry, 15-3, last Sunday and will be tough to beat on its own ice tonight. The Palestra is 60 feet longer than the Escanaba rink, which will make the game a wide open affair.

The Hawks will travel to Marquette in their club bus. All players are asked to meet at Larry Pratt's establishment ready to go at 5:30 p. m. today.

Football Official Hurt At Menominee Loses Compensation

Menominee, Mich., (AP)—A football official is an independent contractor and can't collect compensation as an employee, the Michigan workmen's compensation commission ruled Monday.

In a letter to Menominee high school officials, Silas MacGregor, deputy commissioner who heard the case last week, ruled that Robert Noonan, Marinette, Wis., Lourdes coach, could not claim expenses resulting from a broken leg.

Noonan suffered the fracture last September while officiating at the Menominee-Madison, Wis., Edgewood game here. He finished the game, unaware the leg was broken. He asked for his medical expenses, $128.72, plus compensation he would have received working later games.

The Wisconsin coach contended he was an employee of the home school and as such was entitled to compensation. The commission upheld the school's view that an official is a private contractor.

Chamber Sponsors Annual Recognition Dinner

Alvin Wistert, all-American tackle and captain-leader of the University of Michigan national championship football team, and his linemate, Dominic Tomasi, the 1948 captain who won all-Big Nine and all-American honors, will be the speakers at the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce's annual dinner in honor of football players of Escanaba and St. Joseph's high schools.

The event, which brings to Escanaba two of the outstanding college football linemen of the nation, will be held in the St. Joseph's parish hall Wednesday evening, Feb. 2, beginning at 6:30. Selection of Wistert and Tomasi to address the Escanaba youth and businessmen of the community who sponsor the Eskymo and Trojan gridders is in keeping with the policy of having only well known "name" speakers nationally prominent in the world of sports.

Clarence "Biggie" Munn, football coach at Michigan State college, and his backfield coach, Forrest Evashevski, who cleared the way for all-American Tom Harmon, were the 1948 speakers. And in the past, such well known figures as Fritz Crisler, Jimmy Conzelmann, Bernie Bierman, Jim Crowley, Jack Clevinhy, Joe Boland, Arch Ward, Con Jennings, Dizzy Trout and Don Hutson have appeared here.

Tickets are being sold to members of Escanaba civic, service and fraternal organizations, including the Chamber of Commerce and Junior Chamber of Commerce, in accordance with the usual policy of a member buying tickets, one for himself and one for a school football player.

Other persons interested in attending the dinner may procure their tickets at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Further details will be announced later.

New Peace Move in Pro Football; Yanks May Quit the AAC

New York, Jan. 11 (AP)—A new peace offensive was reported today amid talk that Dan Topping is ready to pull his New York Yankees out of the All-America conference.

The New York Herald Tribune quoting an "authoritative source," said it had learned Topping planned to dissolve his football interests and rent the vast Yankee stadium to the Boston entry of the rival National football league. Ted Collins' Boston Yanks, after a series of financial reverses, obtained permission last month to move their NFL franchise to New York.

Bentley, Conacher Tie for Puck Score Lead in NHL Again

(By The Associated Press)

A couple of Chicago linemen, Doug Bentley and Roy Conacher, are waging a two-man fight for individual scoring honors in the National hockey league.

The two stellar Black Hawks pulled nine points in front during the past week and are now tied for the lead at 41 points each. They have identical records—15 goals and 26 assists.

The closest pursuer is another member of the high-scoring Chicago front line—Jim Conacher, with 32.

The individual scoring race is almost as interesting as the torrid team fight.

Only 11 points separate the league-leading Detroit Red Wings from the last place New York Rangers in the standings. Detroit has 39 points, the Rangers 28.

Boston, in second place, has 36 and Chicago follows with 33. Montreal and Toronto are tied at 30.

After Chicago's big three in the individual parade comes Syd Abel of Detroit, with 31, and Grant (Nobby) Warwick, Boston, with 30.

New York, Jan. 11 (AP)—Remember Billy Petrolle, the Fargo Express? Well, his manager, Jack Hurley, is back with a new protege—Vince Foster of Omaha, Neb.

Naturally the old Petrolle stories are spinning again. For Hurley, a slim Irishman with a touch of blarney, reminisces with the greatest of ease.

MOTORBIKE RACE

Reading, Pa., Jan. 11 (AP)—The American Motorcycle Association's eight-mile national championship race will be held at Reading next July 3.

Mangrum Captures L. A. Open; Hogan Is 8 Strokes Back

Los Angeles, Jan. 11 (AP)—Lloyd Mangrum, using all the old tricks and a new one—following the opposition by radio, is off to a flying start in golf's gold rush of '49.

"I was listening to the others on the radio," said the dapper Chicagoan at the finish of the $15,000 Los Angeles Open. "When I heard Dutch had 287, I knew I could coast in with pars."

That's just what he did—except for a birdie two on the short 16th. Mangrum finished three strokes ahead of E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Little Rock, Ark. Mangrum's 72-hole total of 284—scored under adverse weather conditions—just equalled par.

Eight strokes back was the defending and National Open champion, Ben Hogan of Fort Worth.

Mangrum outdistanced three opponents who started even with him yesterday, and breezed in with a one-under-par 79 just before flakes of snow started to blow across Riviera's treacherous fairways to take the $2,600 first prize. His earnings last year were $45,000 plus, topping Hogan—who quit the tournament late in the season, by some $11,000.

Harrison, shooting cautiously and getting an even par 71 for the last round, pocketed $1,900. Tied, at 288, one stroke behind Harrison, were Eric Monti, the surprise from nearby Santa Monica; Jimmy Demaret of Ojai, Calif.; Bill Nary of Phoenix, and Leland Gibson of Kansas City.

Snow Blocks Roads In California As Grid Meet Delayed

Palm Springs, Calif., Jan. 11 (AP)—The chairman and one member of the football rules committee lonesomely waited for a quorum today.

Snow which blocked roads and delayed trains in many parts of the nation, including Southern California, presumably threw a block on the arrival of the rest of the committee for the annual pow-wow on rules governing the intercollegiate game.

Only Chairman William J. Bingham of Harvard and Coach D. O. (Tuss) McLaughry of Dartmouth made it, up to last night. McLaughry said it took him 5½ hours to drive from Pomona to Palm Springs, ordinarily a two-hour run. It also snowed in Palm Springs yesterday.

Quebec's Historic Winter Sports Sites

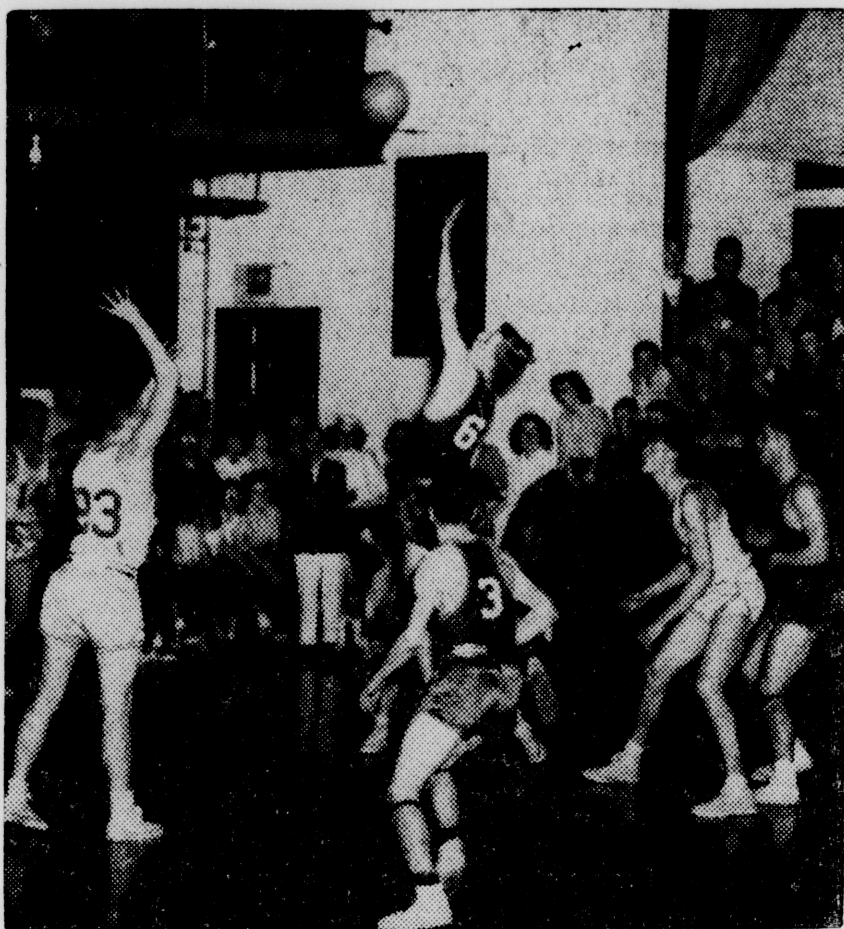

QUEBEC, P. Q. . . . (1948-49) . . . Throngs of winter sports enthusiasts from near and far constantly visit Lac Beauport, Que.

The lofty hills around here give a magnificent setting for winter sports. Perhaps nowhere else are such beautiful land scenes, coupled with all the comforts of civilization, available to those who prefer deep snows and the dry, bracing air of winter for their recreation.

The traditional hospitality of Old Quebec is at its best at Lac Beauport, only a few miles from Historic Quebec famous even in our days, as the city where momentous conferences have been held by today's leading world statesmen.

Here, one may enjoy his favorite sport—skiing, tobogganing or skating—amid spectacular surroundings where conditions make for perfect winter thrills.

Also in the picture are Billy Rajala (14), Dick Pryal (3), Phil Cretien in the pivot slot, Warren Gustafson (12) and Larry LaPlant (18).

Sugar Still Bad For Teeth Despite Help of Fluoride
Denver (P)—Bad news, kids. Just because your teeth have been treated with sodium fluoride, you can't eat all the candy you want.

In fact, says Dr. Herman Becks, chairman of dental medicine at the University of California, there are going to be more decayed teeth than ever before.

The reason: people think that when their teeth have been painted with sodium fluoride, they can eat all the candy they want.

That's not so, said Dr. Becks, here to address the Denver Dental association. The only way to prevent cavities, he said, is to cut down on sweets.

He said decay can be cut 90 per cent by controlling the amount of concentrated sugar in children's diets. Decay is cut on-

Eight Admitted To Citizenship; Jury Postponed

Eight Delta county residents were admitted to citizenship today following a final hearing on their petitions for naturalization before Judge Glenn W. Jackson of Gladstone in circuit court at Escanaba.

Admitted to citizenship were the following:

Joseph Amer Potvin of Bark River; Violet E. Erickson and Joan M. Moreau of Escanaba; Axel E. Granberg of Gladstone; Louise Anderson of Cornell Rt. 1; Hugh J. Robinson of Escanaba; Edward W. Deika of Bark River Rt. 2; and John Palm of Rock Rt. 1.

Because some cases were not yet ready for trial the jury for the January term has been advised not to report for duty until Monday, Jan. 17.

Cold Spell Brings Power Shortage To Pacific Northwest

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 11 (AP)—A new and more serious crisis was expected to develop today in the Pacific northwest's battle with the power shortage.

Continued cold weather, which has frozen streams and cut down the power-making capacity of generators, was forecast and utility spokesmen said that would create a more critical situation for the power pool system than last night when a complete collapse was threatened.

But the breakdown did not come and the consumers in private homes were credited with saving the situation.

Amid warnings that a complete failure might come at any time, consumers were asked to turn off extra lights and electrical appliances during the "peak load" period between 4:30 p. m. and 6:30 p. m.

New Clues Traced In Brutal Slaying Of Girl On Guam

Pearl Harbor, Jan. 11 (AP)—The navy reports that a man questioned in the rape-slaying of pretty Ruth Farnsworth on Guam admitted seeing "two companions hitting and carrying off" the San Francisco woman.

Miss Farnsworth, 27, a civil service employee, disappeared Dec. 11 from the Jade Shop where she worked at night part time. She was found unconscious in the jungle the next day, the victim of a brutal sex assault. She died Dec. 13.

The navy last night released a statement by Rear Adm. Charles Pownall, governor of Guam, but did not name the persons involved.

Governor Invited To Conference On Utility Rate Policy

Lansing, Jan. 11 (AP)—The Michigan Public Service commission has invited Governor Williams to a conference on future utility rate increase policy.

Commission spokesmen said the invitation was made Monday by telephone but that Williams had not accepted.

Williams said last week he was "disturbed at the trend" of rate increases and "surprised" that the commission granted the Detroit Edison Co. a $13,000,000 annual increase within a few days of his taking office.

It was understood, however, that the commission was not deferring decisions in other utility cases necessarily until after the conference. A decision in the application of Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. for a $12,000,000 increase is expected this week.

STROLLE APPOINTED

Iron Mountain (AP)—Roland Strolle, principal of Kingsford, Mich., high school for two years, has been named planning superintendent for the State Department of Public Instruction in Lansing. He is scheduled to take over the new assignment Feb. 1.

Legion Department U. P. Tour Begins Tomorrow

The annual Upper Peninsula tour of officers of the American Legion, Department of Michigan, will begin in Menominee tomorrow and conclude in Newberry where the organization's annual midwinter conference will be held. The officers are scheduled to visit the Cloverland post in Escanaba Tuesday, Jan. 18.

The itinerary follows: Menominee, Jan. 12; Stambaugh, Jan. 13; Ironwood and Wakefield, Jan. 14;

Search Party Saves 20 Rabbit Hunters Marooned In Utah

Salt Lake City, Jan. 11 (AP)—Search parties opened drift-blocked roads yesterday to rescue a group of rabbit hunters as high winds continued to hamper travel in Utah.

A party of 20 Ogden men, all rabbit hunters, were rescued from Hansel Valley, 45 miles west of Tremonton, Utah. They had been snowed in by waist high drifts since Sunday.

Snow fell throughout the day in southern Utah. State highway crews kept the main arteries open but several state roads were closed because of the storm.

Besides the Hansel Valley hunting party, another larger group was rescued earlier from an area 12 miles west of Corinne, Utah. A number of other persons spent long hours in drifted areas awaiting aid.

White House Repair Job Cost Runs To Nearly $4,500,000

Washington, Jan. 11 (AP)—Eventually it may cost nearly $4,500,000 to eliminate "structural and fire hazards" in the White House.

The budget just sent to Congress says a request for a $4,000,000 appropriation is expected before the end of the present fiscal year June 30.

Only $500,000 actually has been appropriated so far. This was spent long ago, but work is continuing and Congress will be asked to approve the bill.

A budget bureau official said the size of the appropriation to be asked indicates that the executive mansion will be almost completely rebuilt on the inside.

Auction bridge originally was designed for three players, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Penknife Surgery Saves Unborn Baby After Mother Dies

Abingdon, Va., Jan. 11 (AP)—The physician looked up from the woman in the ward bed.

"She's dead," he said to a nurse. "Call Dr. Hayter." The second doctor came over and made his own examination. He agreed the woman was dead, but his stethoscope picked up the flickering heartbeat of her unborn child. There still was a chance to save the infant, but precious seconds were ticking off its life.

Dr. Lee M. Cole, Jr., the resident physician, and the nurse went quickly in quest of surgical instruments and oxygen. Standing by, Dr. Harry Hayter heard the flutter of the unborn child's heartbeats grow fainter.

He could wait no longer. With his pocket penknife he performed a caesarian section and delivered a four-pound, four-ounce baby boy—alive and crying lustily.

The mother, Mrs. Elmer Widener of Denton's Valley, had been dead for four minutes.

Communists Rip Up Chiang Army

terday said the Nationalist force had been "completely wiped out" as a fighting force. The encircled troops, originally numbering 250,000 men, had been cut to 130,000 by Communist estimate Sunday.

(The Red broadcast, heard in San Francisco by the Associated Press, gave no details.)

Survivors Tightly Packed
The government Air Force had been parachuting supplies to the encircled troops. But pilots reported survivors were so tightly packed into a narrowing area that they asked the airmen to call off the air lift.

In Shanghai Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault, retired, wartime leader of the "Flying Tigers," said he is willing to lead a new American volunteer group for the Chinese government. He expressed belief such a group still could be effective if "properly constituted" and supplied.

In an interview, Chennault said he had informed President Chiang Kai-shek that veterans of the U. S. 14th Air Force which fought in China during the Second World War had volunteered to fight again. Chiang has not replied, Chennault said.

Chennault is operating his own civil air line in China.

(In isolated north China Communists were reported pressing into Tientsin. Associated Press Correspondent Spencer Moosa reported that telephone reports received in Peiping said heavy firing could be heard throughout the day in the eastern and western suburbs of Tientsin. Communist shells were falling in the city.)

(Meanwhile besieged Peiping, the other major nationalist-held city of north China, remained calm. Residents were more worried about sky-rocketing living costs than the civil war, Moosa reported.)

(Peiping is undergoing its fifth week of Communist siege. But the war there has been limited to minor clashes in the city's outskirts.)

Attorneys Attempt To Postpone Trial Of 12 Red Leaders

New York, Jan. 11 (AP)—Attorneys for 12 Communist leaders charged with conspiring to organize the party to advocate violent overthrow of the government again sought postponement of their trial today because of the ill health of one of them.

Louis F. McCabe, Philadelphia attorney for National Party Chairman William Z. Foster, sought postponement on the grounds of Foster's continued ill health. Defense attorneys say he is suffering from a heart condition.

McCabe also sought adjournment on the basis that defense attorneys needed more time to complete their preparations.

The supreme court yesterday refused to halt the impending trial of Foster and the 11 other members of the national committee of the party set for Jan. 17.

Quiz Show Winner Of $30,500 Visited By Tax Collector

Sparrows Point, Md., Jan. 11 (AP)—The internal revenue department listens to the radio, too. Sunday night John F. Oaks, 63-year-old railroad executive, won $30,500 in prizes on a radio quiz show.

Yesterday, Oaks said, "an income tax collector came around to get his money, but I told him he'd have to wait until I knew what prizes I was getting. Then we'd talk business."

"I got a kick out of that. He was right there, Johnny-on-the-spot."

An internal revenue agent said Oaks would have to pay about $10,000 in taxes on the gifts. It makes no difference if he keeps the gifts or sells them, the agent said, as the amount of tax is based on the retail value of the prizes.

Legislature Asked For $1,000,000 Aid To Local Libraries

Lansing, Jan. 11 (AP)—The State Board of Libraries today asked the legislature for $1,000,000 to help local public libraries—almost three times more than now is spent.

Mrs. Loleta D. Fyan, state librarian and board secretary, said the board's present $371,000 appropriation has remained unchanged for 10 years and that local library costs have risen substantially in that period. Changes in the state aid law proposed by the Michigan Library Association may require additional funds, she said.

The board also asked that its present $250,000 operating budget be increased to $354,730 to provide for expanded services, an enlarged staff and the establishment of three "bookmobiles."

Mrs. Dorothy T. Hagerman of Grand Rapids was elected chairman of the board, replacing Mrs. George G. Hunter of St. Johns. Miss Helen Warner of Battle Creek was elected vice-chairman.

Fresh Snow Falls In Nebraska Town, Blocked 8 Days

Gordon, Neb., Jan. 11 (AP)—New snow was still falling in western Nebraska early today hampering efforts to break through a new blockade that has isolated this town.

No trains have penetrated the blockade for eight days and roads have been blocked by huge drifts since last week's blizzard.

Yesterday officials of Gordon, a town of 2,400, declared a state of emergency as baby food, canned milk and fuel ran dangerously low.

At Lincoln, the governor of Nebraska, Val Peterson, promised every facility would be used in opening a way into Gordon. Within the town, doctors organized to supply information to isolated families, and ski planes were prepared for emergency flights to stricken farm and ranch homes isolated by the heavy snow.

Meanwhile in eastern and central Nebraska today, a freezing drizzle followed up a light snow which fell yesterday.

Billikens Risk Mark Against Long Island

New York, Jan. 11 (AP)—The St. Louis Billikens, rated college basketball's best after their Sugar Bowl victory over Kentucky, move into Madison Square Garden tonight to risk their unsplotted record against Long Island University.

With easy Ed McCauley, the beanpole all-American playmaker, in good health, the Billikens are strong favorites to rack up No. 10 in a row.

In the other part of the doubleheader, West Virginia plays City College of New York. Two of the nation's unbeaten teams—Western Kentucky and Minnesota—came through last night to keep the slimming ranks intact.

Western Kentucky extended its season's streak to 11 games—the nation's longest—by humbling the University of Louisville, 56-44.

Minnesota won its tenth by defeating Wisconsin, 47-33. It was the Minnesotans' second triumph in the Western conference.

THEY'RE MAD

Olivet, Mich., Jan. 11 (AP)—Olivet college and Assumption of Windsor, Ont., were on the outs today as the result of a rough and tough basketball game. Athletic relations have been severed, according to Olivet coach Frank Ham. Ham made the announcement after Olivet was declared a 2 to 0 winner by forfeit in last night's game with the Canadian quint. Regulation play, marked by player fights and the ouster of two men from each team, ended in a 57-57 tie. Assumption refused to play overtime and the game was declared forfeited to Olivet.
